Apple AirPort Card and AirPort Hardware Access Point

AirPort is changing the way people work, play and communicate. Say goodbye to that unsightly tangle of wires and cables snaking across your floor. Now there's an affordable way to bring the Internet to your office, home or classroom—without cables, additional phone lines or complicated networking hardware. AirPort lets you use your iBook, iMac, PowerBook® or Power Mac G4 for work, play, e-mail and getting on the Internet—wirelessly—from anywhere in your office, home, dorm or classroom.

You need just two things to have AirPort up and running. First, you need the AirPort Card (you'll have it installed in your iMac in seconds). Second, you'll need the AirPort Hardware Access Point. It includes a 56K modem for your phone line or an Ethernet port if you have a cable modem, DSL modem or access to an Ethernet network.

Apple® Power Mac® G4 Cube

Never before has so much technology been engineered into such a small space. The remarkable G4 Cube, measuring less than eight inches per side, delivers more computing power than PCs four times its size.

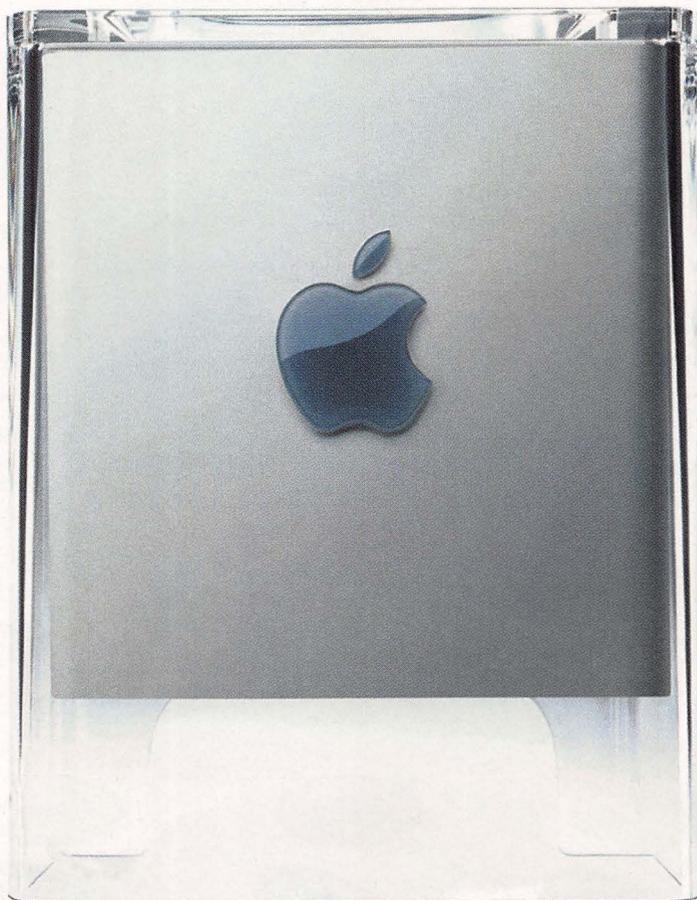

Don't let its size fool you; Apple G4 Cube has enough horsepower for the most demanding uses, from desktop publishing to making desktop movies and from playing ultra-realistic 3D games to enjoying the latest DVD movies. And believe it or not, it is expandable. Apple G4 Cube can hold up to 1.5GB of SDRAM. Just add an AirPort card and you are ready to surf the Web 100% wireless.

This state of the art supercomputer is the first to come standard with an optical mouse, the all new Apple Pro mouse. The optical tracking engine tracks movement at 1500 times per second. To top it off, the entire surface is a button, ergonomically designed so you can rest your finger wherever it is most comfortable. Also included is the Apple Pro keyboard. Apple® iBook™

Looks are not the only reason why iBook is the jalapeño of notebook computers. iBook started out as a hot little number in terms of performance, connectivity, multimedia and storage capacity. And now it's even hotter, with double the memory and memory expandability as before, plus a 6GB hard drive.

Apple has also added the choice of a second chip—you can get a tangerine or blueberry iBook with a 300MHz PowerPC™ G3 processor or a graphite iBook Special Edition with a blazing fast 366MHz G3 processor. iBook also has lots of space. Its 6GB Ultra ATA hard disk drive lets you store reams of digital data.

As for connecting to the Internet, iBook lets you get online three different ways. You can use its built-in 56Kbps modem or 10/100BASE-T Ethernet port, or—if you prefer—wirelessly with AirPort. And, since iBook comes pre-loaded with Mac OS 9, you can take advantage of the free suite of Internet services Apple provides, such as iReview, iTools and iCards.

Apple® AirPort

Apple's AirPort™ wireless networking technology lets you surf the Internet from anywhere in your office or home and allows offices to provide Internet access to multiple employees without installing expensive cabling. Using AirPort Base Station, you can work and play on the Internet up to 150 feet away from your phone line or Ethernet connection.

With multiple AirPort-enabled iMac, iBook, Power Mac G4 and Macintosh Server G4 systems, it's a snap to exchange files at data transfer rates of up to 11Mb per second. And, because AirPort uses radio waves for communication, it even works through walls.

AirPort antennas are built into most new computers from Apple. All you need to add is an internal AirPort Card for each iMac, iBook, Power Mac G4 and Macintosh Server G4 system you want to bring onto your wireless network. With an AirPort Card and AirPort Base Station, you're ready to access the Internet anywhere in your office or home—without wires.

Slim. Stunning. Superfast.

With PowerPC™ G3 processors running at up to 400MHz, with a thinner and lighter design, the Apple® PowerBook® G3 Series gives you the ultimate combination: desktop performance in a notebook computer.

Slim down, wise up

PowerBook G3 is 1.7" thin and only six pounds. And its 400MHz or 500MHz PowerPC G3 processors outperform all Intel® Pentium® II-based notebook computers. Greater performance and lighter weight make it the ideal mobile solution.

Work all day—unplugged

With dual-battery capability, you can keep working for longer than ever—up to five hours at a time with one battery, or up to 10 hours with two batteries (depending on configuration and usage).

Communicate nonstop

A built-in 56Kbps modem makes it easy to connect to the Internet and 10/100BASE-TX Ethernet connection makes hooking up to high-speed networks a snap. Two USB ports, a hot-swappable expansion bay and a PC Card slot let you connect to storage, video and FireWire® peripherals.

Make multimedia magic

The 14.1" active-matrix screen delivers crisp text and brilliant color. Now, with built-in dual-display capability, you can add an external monitor and expand your on screen workspace. For great presentations, connect to a TV or projection device. And enjoy DVD movies with the DVD-ROM drive, or choose the high-speed CD-ROM drive.

Today's technology for less: CDW Leasing

Computer Leasing Solutions™
www.cdw.com/leaseit

Professional CDW support

CDW Leasing is a unique program that helps business customers finance their hardware conveniently and cost-effectively.

Leasing with CDW allows your business to use its capital efficiently. Leasing with CDW also comes in handy if you're concerned that your organization's technology will soon become obsolete; simply upgrade to new technologies at each leasing term's renewal to keep things running smoothly.

Leasing and CDW service

CDW Leasing combines the benefits of leasing with its unique customer service philosophy: CDW's

Signs that you should be leasing

- ✓ You replace your computer equipment every few years
- ✓ Buying computer equipment puts a strain on your budget
- ✓ You want to use your lines of credit for purposes other than computer equipment

Circle of Service, the company's code of ethics for treating customers fairly and honestly. Through the CDW Leasing program, CDW offers flexible terms and will soon offer a special technology update option: businesses will have the choice of upgrading their equipment well before their leasing terms expire. Plus, CDW offers some of the most competitive rates around, especially for items under $10,000, and CDW will lease items not commonly financed this way such as software, add-ons and extended service programs. The CDW Leasing consultants work closely with CDW account managers to make sure customers receive leasing solutions that fit their specialized needs.

As part of the program, more than 500 CDW account managers now hold professional leasing certificates, which they earned through CDW University's leasing certification course. This training guarantees that account managers have an advanced understanding of leasing—including terminology, options and pricing—so they can recognize when your business will benefit from the CDW Leasing program.

Who should lease?

CDW Leasing makes the best financial sense for business and institutional customers whose IT needs exceed $3,000. Your account manager may suggest CDW Leasing when you place an order. If you choose to proceed with leasing your computer equipment, you will be contacted by a CDW Leasing consultant. Our leasing consultant will help you determine finance options based on your equipment needs and establish a leasing agreement that makes sense. First time working with CDW and still want to lease? Call 888-239-8271 to speak with a CDW lease certified account manager.

Note: software licensing agreement restrictions prevent CDW from leasing some software items; your account manager or CDW Leasing consultant can give you more information.
